Significance continued: C.H. Griggs as a teacher in the local black school. Daule later became principal of the black high school, serving for about 40 years. The school was later renamed in his honor. In 1948-49 a new black high school (Site No. 762) was built and was named the Daule High School. He is regarded locally as the man most reponsible for developing and upgrading Cuero's black schools.

ABSTRACT/SUMMARY COMMENTS:

House is significant inder criterion B based on its association with E.A. Davle, a man who played an important role in upgreding the community's black schools. Nomination does not specifically address the property's architectural significance, but the cover form provides extensive context regarding the L-plan architectural type.
